Matthew Heath, Director of Marketing at AFS Foundation & Waterproofing Specialists. The topic will be the evolution of residential home waterproofing. How waterproofing a basement or crawl space was done in the past compared to now is quite different. The difference is based on a waterproofing science that has evolved as our understanding has evolved on the topic of keeping our homes dry from outside water which can destroy a home. Michael Larson, Inspector from AFS will be there as well with information to be given out.

Russell Davis, Executive Vice President Home Builders Association of Alabama will also be here answering questions about Workers Compensation Insurance.
